- When you click on this box, questions will appear further down the page. Answer all of these questions.

If a question asks you to provide an example, make sure that you provide one!

Questions that require an example may not always start with "Give me an example..."

As a general rule, if the question starts with "Tell me about a time...", "Describe a situation..." or "Describe a time..." you need to provide an example.

It can sometimes be difficult to pin point relevant examples – try to think about:

- Activities, events or courses that you have been involved in throughout school.
- Any extracurricular/volunteering activities that you have participated in.
- Everything that you do in a typical day.
- Any situations that are particularly memorable to you.
- Responsibilities that you have (at home/school/part time job/club).

When providing examples as part of an application, it is important to:

- Clearly describe the Situation (what was happening at the time, what was the scenario?)
- Describe the Task (what was it that you needed to do)
- Explain the Action that you took to achieve the task (how did you get the task done, what methods did you use? What skills, personal strengths and knowledge did you call on)
- Describe the Result what was the outcome? What changed for the better?)

This is called the STAR technique.

Example:

Question: Describe a time where you have successfully lead a team

Answer: [situation] I was the captain of the football team whilst at school, during an important match we were down by two goals and there was low morale in the team. [task] My task as a team member and team captain was to not only do well in the match, but to also encourage teamwork and boost morale. [action] I used positive language, encouraged clear communication and showed appreciation for each team members' effort and contribution. [result] The result was a growth in team spirit, an improvement in how we worked together as a team and we went on to finish the match on a draw.

If there is a question that asks what you would do in a particular hypothetical situation, and you are unsure, try and imagine yourself in that situation. Think about all the possible decisions and actions that you could take and consider what the potential outcomes might be. Weigh up the pros and cons, and then describe what you would do.

If there is a question that tests you on your knowledge e.g. "what is your understanding of...?" and you are unsure, research the topic before answering.

- Once you have answered all of the questions, go back over them and check them for spelling mistakes and correct grammar, then click save and continue.
